

Find out more about the Endoscopic Overstitch Procedure.

If you are considering a Endoscopic Overstitch procedure we would like you to be as well informed as possible.

How can overstitch help with the revision bariatric surgery?

OverStitch is an innovative development that involves endoscopic suturing for bariatric revision. A revolutionary alternative to previous revision processes, OverStitch allows for full thickness stitches in an endoscopic procedure, shrinking the size of the stomach once more and leading to better overall results in weight gain cessation and estimated weight loss after surgery.

In this process, a surgeon uses an endoscope, which is inserted into the mouth. The endoscope is then used to navigate to the stomach, where stitches are placed in order to reduce the size of the stomach, jump starting weight loss once more. This procedure is generally an outpatient process, with patients able to return home on the same day, thus avoiding the complications that can arise in a second laparoscopic surgery. With minimal side effects and a high level of patient comfort.

If you have undergone a successful gastric bypass surgery only to see results diminish over time, bariatric revision may be the best course of action for you. Low risk and highly effective, OverStitch can help you see weight loss progress once more with one simple procedure.

We're here to help with any questions you have about any of the procedures we offer.

To find out more about Nu-life Surgery please either:

- Call us on 01483 724833
- Send an email to enquiries.nulifesurgery@gmail.com
- Fill out our general enquiry form
- Make a consultation enquiry